

BAILEY TELLS OF NEW NEEDS.

Head of Cornell Writes on "Experimentations."

Settled Policy Lacking in Scientific Research.

State Institutes and Federal Relations and Control.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The nature and scope of the commission recently appointed to inquire into the state of the organization and policy that should prevail in the expenditure of public money, provided for scientific experimentation and research in the interest of agriculture, was discussed in a letter from L. H. Bailey of Cornell University to President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford University, a copy of which was received by Clifford Pinchot, chief of the Forestry Service.

Dr. Bailey is president of the Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, which the commission represents, and Dr. Jordan is chairman of the commission.

This commission has held several sessions in Washington in the past few days, during which the work of the various members was laid out. The members have discussed the proposed work with the President, and it is stated that he is much interested in what it is expected to accomplish.

President Bailey's letter says:

"The occasion for the creating of the commission lies in the fact that in the very rapid evolution of experimental science and research in agriculture in the United States, there has not yet arisen a clear policy in relation to many large public questions. We need to work out principles of action.

"There undoubtedly needs to be a correlation and harmonizing of subjects and methods, an understanding of the proper scope, function and limitations of national and state agencies, a conception of the relation of institutions in the States to Federal opportunities and control, of the effect of effective distribution of investigation and efforts among the different State institutions, and a consideration of the influence exerted in research in agriculture by the current methods of appropriations by Legislatures, of the relation of the individual worker to institutional organization; discussion of what constitutes research that is of national and state worth; results; the relation of this research to the teaching and public functions of the institutions; consideration of the influence of research in agriculture to the general body of science and the coordination of them, and in general, a discussion of the experiment and research in the interest of agriculture as an essential and economic part of the work, under the most effective and efficient conditions, with wise policies in the interest of the public welfare.

"The commission to have much of little of this field, but it will be essential to consider the best methods of organizing research work, the mutual relation of experimental stations and Federal agencies, and the general character of such reports that may be made to the President, and the public money. The two members representing the association are familiar with the questions that need most to be discussed."

President Bailey says that the commission may consider any other research work supported by public money that supports agricultural efficiency. It cannot, he says, neglect direct educational questions in so far as they touch the dissemination of information and the training of the institutions, and particularly as they relate to the training of the mind to undertake the research.

ELIHU ROOT TO LEAVE CABINET?

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)

CHICAGO, April 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—The Washington correspondent of the Times-Ocean says that one of the most serious rumors growing from the retirement of the last week because of ill health of Elihu Root, is that the President is to leave the Cabinet.

The reason given for his reported retirement is that he is out of harmony with the administration, and that this has been growing more evident as the political plans of the President have developed.

The story goes that Secretary Root strongly urged the President to appoint a new Secretary of War, and that this has been growing more evident as the political plans of the President have developed.

Speaker "Joe" Cannon on West Indian Liner Witnesses Rescue of Crew of Foundering Bark.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Nearly every vessel that has arrived from southern ports during the last week has brought some story of maritime disaster wrought by the force of the coast of Hatteras. The Bluecher arrived from West Indian ports today, and she was no exception, standing in disconsolate groups about her decks were thirteen people whom the line had saved from their foundering bark, the Gulfport. The rescue was witnessed by Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and others of the Congressional party on board the Bluecher.

Those taken by the lifeboat of the liner were near starvation, and for nearly a week they had had nothing to live on except a few water-soaked biscuits. Thursday morning the Bluecher altered her course to head for a wreck that had been sighted. The passengers hurriedly gathered on deck and saw the crew of the bark clustered about the raft. Little difficulty attended the rescue of the Bluecher. The lifeboat, in charge of Chief Officer Beyer, was lowered, and Capt. Larsen of the bark and twenty members of the crew were in a short time safely on board the Bluecher.

PRaises Taft.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—Taft and I look at things from the same angle," the President said today after a friendly talk with the President and whether Taft was President and I was in his Cabinet, or I was President and he was in my Cabinet.

It has been recalled since the revelations of the Shoreham dinner were made public that E. H. Harriman was in Washington for a week about the time of the adjournment of Congress. There were numerous small dinners, none of which got into the newspapers. At these gatherings men who figure in large affairs were gradually gotten together.

The dinner of which a man boasted of what was to be done to break down "Rooseveltism," was of minor consequence compared to these gatherings. It would be impossible to present in any shape the combinations

GEORGE ADE'S LATEST JOKE.

This One Is an Accident, on Himself Too.

It Is Not a Fable in Slang, but a True Story.

Buy a Carload of Trees Then Gives Them Away.

Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, will celebrate Arbor Day for several weeks to come. From now on when visitors admire the beautiful trees surrounding the hotel grounds they will be told the story of how George Ade, out of the goodness of his heart, donated trees to the value of $1100 to the hotel.

There is a story behind the princely donation. Though of a generous disposition, the popular humorist has not inaugurated the custom of endowing memorial orchards, and as yet, he is not in a state of mind to appreciate the affair as fully as he might, and to the extent that others do.

It seems that some weeks ago Ade received a letter from his brother at Brooke, Ind., stating that certain trees and shrubs were badly needed for the author's farm. The letter further stated that the trees could be had from a Dayton (O.) nurseryman, and suggested that, as there was but a short time in which to receive the trees, they be sent out this year, a check be sent at once to the dealer, accompanied by a check for the trees.

It was not long before the trees were sent to the hotel, and the hotel was the first to receive them. The trees were sent to the hotel, and the hotel was the first to receive them.

W. T. STEAD URGES AMERICAN PILGRIMAGE TO HAGUE.

Occupies Pulpit of Plymouth Church and Describes Opportunity Which Coming Conference Offers to Promote World Abolition of War. His Idea Meets With Enthusiasm.

NEW YORK, April 7.—William T. Stead occupied the pulpit in Plymouth Church tonight and set forth his views as to the opportunity which is afforded to Americans by the coming Hague conference of roving other nations to a sense of the importance of making definite and immediate progress toward the ideal described by the phrase, "The United States of the World."

He argued that twelve representative American men and women should be selected as the nucleus of a pilgrimage of peace. These persons would appeal to the American people for their endorsement by public meetings or signed memorials. Armed with this evidence of national support, they would go to the President and the Secretary of State and ask them to instruct their delegates at The Hague to support the programme.

Then they would approach the British Ambassador and inform him of their intention to start at once for England in order to appeal to the British people for support in pressing their request upon the King and his ministers.

Mr. Stead said there was no doubt that they would receive an overwhelmingly popular reception in England, where the ground already is prepared. At London they would be joined by four pilgrims from each of the three Scandinavian countries and the Americans and Scandinavians would present their petition to the King at Buckingham Palace and to his ministers in Downing street.

The thirty-six pilgrims would then cross over to Paris, where the same would be repeated. From Paris they would go to Brussels, where they would present their petition to the King at Buckingham Palace and to his ministers in Downing street.

TAFT'S VISIT TO CUBA DEPENDS ON IT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—Largely the future policy of the United States in Cuba depends on the visit of Secretary Taft, who was expected to arrive in Havana today from Colon on the Mayflower. The Washington administration is still reluctant to admit that it is contemplating any change of plan which involves, as often announced, an election in the provinces, an increase in the Rural Guard to bring it to the dignity of a standing army and after that the withdrawal of United States regulars. Yet another increase in the time draws nigh for taking a forward step.

Even the President and Secretary Taft now question the wisdom of an early fixed departure of the troops from the island unless a very remarkable change comes over the Cuban politicians.

ment have been receiving reports on the Cuban situation, which is certain to give pause to a plan for the early withdrawal of American troops. Several weeks ago the President became convinced that there was a real demand from all the business interests on the island for a protectorate. This demand had come from all parts of the island and the petitions and the arguments were so numerous and so strong that it was admitted that very grave consequences might be involved in adhering to the original plan.

The Sells-Photo shows inaugurates their season this year at Praeger Park this afternoon. The shows have grown to great magnitude and are a fine example of industry and genius.

The menagerie alone is nearly double its former size, for during the winter the Old World has been scoured thoroughly for wild animals and strange beasts. The cages, vans, chariots and tableaux cars are all new and especially attractive.

It has taken many years and several fortunes to place this institution on its present plane of excellence. In the main tent many new features will surprise and delight the beholder, and the long programme will more than amply reward the visitor.

The afternoon performance begins at 2 o'clock. The evening performance begins at 7 o'clock.

HUNTINGTON IS AN OPTIMIST.

Expects Prosperity Here to Steadily Increase.

Says Good Roads Movement Is Most Important.

No Car Line Extension Under Present Franchise.

Bank from a six month's absence in New York, came Henry E. Huntington, yesterday evening, to take up the multitude of details pending his attending in Los Angeles and Southern California.

Mr. Huntington is looking remarkably well, although he contracted a cold immediately after crossing the border at California. He arrived on the Santa Fe Limited, and after a short stop at the home of his son, Howard E. Huntington, in San Jose, Cal., he came to the evening he returned to the Huntington Club, which is his Los Angeles home, and for a few moments talked with a Times reporter.

"I have had a six month's absence from Los Angeles, and therefore have not kept in close touch with many of the interesting developments," said the man whose name is one to conjure with in Southern California, "but I have kept track of the good roads movement and I want to say to you that this is the most important thing to have the people of this State today."

"Southern California, especially, can well afford to bend all its energies towards good road building. We have here a great show place, a country which more and more each year is attracting people of wealth and leisure, people of wide experience in travel, who realize that Southern California offers them many attractions. Now, we must make good roads so that these visitors, as well as our own people can get about in all parts of this land of attractions. It will prove a good investment from the very start."

"CAPITAL COMING THIS WAY." "I was in New York when the recent flurry in stocks took place, but I paid no special attention to it—I'm not interested in that line of thing, you know. I do know, however, that eastern capital is still flowing to California—in investments and enterprises, and I know of no good reason why there should be any change in this."

"People all over the East continue to believe California. Apparently there is no apprehension felt because of the San Francisco disaster. A number of people asked me about the affair, and I told them the exact truth about it—that I didn't even feel the stock market in California still has a firm hold on the interest of the eastern people, and is

is especially strong with the classes of men whom Southern California will prize as acquisitions to its citizenship. I expect the influx of both settlers and visitors to continue to increase."

"As to local affairs, I cannot give anything of interest, as I have not had even a moment to consult with the men in charge here and am considerably out of touch with Los Angeles affairs."

"We have no extensive projects on hand at the present time. The completion of the Covina line and the extension of the Monrovia line to Duarte and Azusa are the main features of our expansion. We do not expect to make much extension to the city's system as long as the city requires that new lines must operate under a twenty-year franchise."

"IMPOSSIBLE PROVISIONS." "No practical railroad builders and operators will build city lines with such provisions—they simply cannot afford to do so. Even under the former franchise provisions we have four or five lines in this city which have never paid expenses. The most profitable thing for our interests to do at the present time is to hold the railroad system in its present condition. We are constantly making extensions in our equipment and operating department, however, and propose to give the public the best of the system."

"Eventually the four-track line will be completed to Long Beach, but for the present it is our intention to make this four-track system extend only to Watts, the junction point for the Santa Ana line."

"We have no definite plans for an elevated road system, but the congested condition of traffic on Main street certainly must demand attention. I suppose that must come, in time."

"I am glad to get back again, and within a few days I shall be more in touch with the details of affairs here; but just now I really haven't anything to say that would be of interest to readers of The Times."

Then the most talked of man in Southern California retired to his desk to read a bunch of telegrams awaiting him, although he had arrived only a few or three hours previously.

FIRE SEARS GRAND STAGE.

Ugly Early Morning Blaze at Theater.

Sprinkler System Works to Complete Success.

City Officials May Take Action on Other Houses.

Five on the stage of the Grand Opera-house, early yesterday morning, for a time threatened that historic building, and was only quenched by the instantaneous working of the sprinkler system, much-discussed safety appliance ordered into all theaters not long ago by the City Council.

Incidentally, it is rumored that this fire will hasten the building inspector and his force in ordering compliance with these orders from every theater in the city.

Some have been fighting for delay, probably the largest contest being put up by the Mason Opera-house.

It was non-compliance with this ordinance which put the Hotchkiss Theater out of business. The owners absolutely refused to comply with the demands for safety, and at the conclusion of one season's engagement the building inspector ordered the doors closed, not to be opened again until the necessary alterations had been made.

The matter was discussed quickly in a semi-official group at the City Hall yesterday morning, and something decisive may happen today.

It is alleged that a bulky typewriter manuscript of proposed changes has been ready for some time, and that this will be dragged to light and put to use.

Los Angeles has very fortunately been free from serious stage fires, but the one yesterday morning would have assumed large proportions had it not been for the quick-working sprinkler system.

It may have occurred from old or defective wiring of obsolete style—another thing is looked after at once in the city's theaters, as Manager Baker believes, from two wires accidentally crossed late the night before while stage electricians were putting in some special devices.

Negligence of one of the protective patrolmen, however, was not the cause, as it is said that a watchman looking in at 2:30 o'clock thought nothing of the slight smoke, but a slight smell of burning rubber was apparent.

At 3 o'clock a watchman saw a little blaze. He rushed back to the switchboard and tried to pull out some of the fire-lighting appliances, but by that time the leaping flames were so hot that he could not get at them.

Before he could turn in an alarm, however, the smoke from the fire touched the soft solid in a sprinkler tube, melted it, and in a second the whirling wheel in its top was distributing gallons of water all over the fire and incidentally, the scenery.

The safety machine fulfilled all the claims made for it.

A few minutes later the fire was out, and the only damage was the smoke-blackened wings, a charred switchboard, and a partially ruined and a circuiting, and an expense of dribbling, p-u-colored scenery. The monetary loss is slight.

Manager Baker says that he is glad to have the sprinklers prove themselves, even though such proof is rather serious.

Had the accident happened during a performance, a bad panic would undoubtedly have resulted.

Repairs were made on the wrecked switchboard yesterday morning, the ruined scenery was replaced, and the matinee performance went on as usual.

The automatic sprinklers have proved their efficiency thousands of times, and there is not the slightest doubt as to their practicability," said Chief Lips of the department when asked about the fire. "We received a telephone alarm soon after the blaze was discovered, and when we reached the fire there was little for us to do. Had that building not been equipped with sprinklers, it is certain it would be in ruins today."

Asked as to the safety of other theaters from disastrous fires, Chief Lips said:

"Building Inspector Backus has paid special attention to theaters and other public buildings, and I positively know that the theaters in Los Angeles are better protected from fire than they have ever been before. One or two of them—and the exception includes one of the most important theaters in the city—have not been equipped with the device required by the city ordinance, but this fire will lead to an immediate and rigid enforcement of the ordinance or to prompt prosecution for failure to comply with the laws. People who attend theaters are entitled to all the protection from fire which can be given them, and we propose to see that they get it."

Prices will be but 25 to 50 per cent. of their regular value.

We also have a number of good second-hand organs that were taken in exchange on the purchase of pianos. These will be offered at very low prices and on such easy terms that a child can purchase one.

Should you buy one of these organs and afterward decide to buy a piano, we will take back the organ at purchase price and let same apply on the purchase of a piano any time within 3 years.
